In the afternoon the walking tour will continue with the Baroque Rome.

We begin with a visit to Piazza di Spagna (Spanish Steps), the favorite place of all artists and intellectuals – coming from every part of Europe – who in the 19th century frequently used to meet at the nearby Caffè Greco. Later we shall arrive at Fontana di Trevi, the Queen of all fountains. The construction of the aqueduct feeding it is linked to a pagan legend which alert eyes may find engraved in the fountain itself. We then reach the Pantheon, a building still intact after two thousand years of history. Even today we are still questioning the engineering miracle of its dome. And finally here we are in Piazza Navona – the stadium of Domiziano in Roman times where the athletic games took place.

Nowadays the square displays works by Bernini and Borromini right in the middle of the most picturesque liveliness.
